* This unit returned from Nova Scotia to Boston on 4 March 1942 and embarked again at New York on 12 May 1942.

† The professional and enlisted personnel of this unit was used to staff the 233d and 237th Station Hospitals, which embarked for Australia on 5 January 1944. The 233d Station Hospital was reorganized and redesignated the 247th General Hospital on 15 October 1944. After the war, on 7 February 1947, the 237th Station Hospital and the 247th General Hospital were consolidated to form again the 71st General Hospital, an inactive unit, to preserve its affiliation with the Mayo Foundation.
